

Mr Laurentiu Andrei,
MEF Deputy General Manager - State Treasury

2009, will definitely be the year of major changes, a challenging year for the SEPA project, a year in which significant steps will have to be made in the project of the market harmonization and innovation. The end users, belonging to the banking community or to the public authority, must benefit from the SEPA advantages and the State Treasury considers as its duty to offer these unique advantages of payments in euro currency.

Mr Sorin Guiman,
Business Information Systems CEO

I thank e-Finance for the honor of awarding our group's performance; BIS' professional group deserved this prize for the last year's accomplishment, qPayIntegrator is the first application certified by SWIFT as compliant with the EPC' regulations on net settlements.
