

Allevo Helps Pharmaceutical Group A&D Pharma Get Full Control over Its Business Flows

Using Allevo's solution qPI-TIPc and Microsoft BizTalk Server, A&D Pharma will enjoy the advantages of a centralized management of financial operations

Press Release

Osaka, 29 October 2012: Allevo, in a joint effort with A&D Pharma's IT and business employees, as well as Microsoft BizTalk Server-Certified Professionals, has reached the final implementation stage of its qPayIntegrator-TIPc (qPI-TIPc) solution in the pharmaceutical company.

The solution, designed to complement A&D Pharma's ERP systems, will provide them with a single interface for the payments management of all the group's entities, monitoring and reporting, regardless of the bank they are using.

By providing centralized management of financial operations, Allevo's qPI-TIPc solution enables A&D Pharma to mitigate operational risks due to duplicate payments detection, eradication of human errors or fraud in bank's interfaces access. qPI-TIP is able to process domestic and international payment instructions - from the initiation to the reconciliation with the bank statement, to generate relevant reports and statistics by having a single view of all payment instructions in one application window. Using Microsoft BizTalk Server, the platform benefits from the high performance, scalability and reliability this technology has to offer.

"Providing integrated payment solutions is essential in lowering risk and providing efficiency and reliability in the financial supply chain," said Colin Kerr, industry solutions manager, worldwide financial services at Microsoft. "Corporate treasuries and banks around the world are benefiting from the performance and low cost of ownership of BizTalk Server for financial messaging. We are excited to support Allevo's development of solutions that simplify payments management and operations."

"By implementing and using qPI-TIPc solution, A&D Pharma will not only gain full control of its business flows and financial operations, but will also benefit from strong operational risk containment for its business lines", says Dan Anghelescu, Operations Director Allevo.
